Along the Watchtower

Nathan Akehurst

Thousands of people die preventable deaths at Europe's borders every year. And the situation keeps getting worse. From eastern Polish forest swamps to the Mediterranean and Aegean Seas to the corridors of power, Along the Watchtower describes how Europe's war on migration has spun out of control.

'Along the Watchtower is a haunting and incisive interrogation of the rise of fortress Europe, and an epitaph to many of the lives that have been lost in its construction.' Grace Blakeley

Holding Paradox

Andrea Hiott

We are on the precipice of a new way of being in the world. Another system of knowledge is revolutionizing our understanding of physical and mental space, as well as the potential of bodily movement in both. This shift is as momentous as any Renaissance, and yet many are unaware of what's happening. To survive and thrive in such times requires that we hold contradictory ideas in mind at once while finding ways to function.

'Hiott demonstrates that holding contradictions open is not intellectual weakness but scientific enlightenment. This is an enriching and essential read.' Karl Friston, world's most cited neuroscientist

Iff Books; 2026-12-08; Mindfulness & Meditation/Cognitive Science/Mind & Body; Pb-9781917991636, $33.95/£24.99, 448pp, 8.5x5.5inches / 216x140mm, Ebk-9781917991759, $27.99/£19.99.

Iff Books; 2026-11-24; Social/Metaphysics/Sociology (General); Pb-9781917991643, $19.95/£14.99, 216pp, 8.5x5.5inches / 216x140mm, Ebk-9781917991698, $15.99/£11.99.

Iff Books; 2026-10-27; Essays/Forecasting; Pb-9781917991612, $16.95/£11.99, 160pp, 8.5x5.5inches / 216x140mm, Ebk-9781917991674, $13.99/£9.99.

Insufficient Rewards

Jay Shapiro

The modern world is caught in a strange dance of righteous outrage and numbing distraction, an era of revolt paired with moral fatigue. Insufficient Rewards: How We Traded Integrity for Comfort and Outsourced Morality to History exposes not only how the logic of insufficient reward traps us in complicity but also how reclaiming personal integrity is our most urgent form of resistance.

Iff Books; 2026-08-25; Popular Culture/History & Theory/Social; Pb-9781803419985, $22.95/£15.99, 256pp, 8.5x5.5inches / 216x140mm, Ebk-9781917991131, $18.99/£12.99.

Living the Dream

Andrew T. Jaffe, M.D.

Living the Dream: Cognitive Dream Interface Theory (CDIT) reframes one of humanity's oldest mysteries: the nature of reality. Instead of treating consciousness as a late byproduct of complex matter, CDIT presents awareness as a natural phenomenon - timeless, ever-present, and as fundamental as gravity or light. Its intrinsic property is to generate experience, to render form and story the way gravity pulls or magnetism attracts.

Essentia Books; 2026-08-25; Dreams/Cosmology/Mind & Body; Pb-9781917991629, $16.95/£11.99, 160pp, 8.5x5.5inches / 216x140mm, Ebk-9781917991728, $8.99/£5.99.

In a world increasingly defined by mental health struggles, existential anxiety, and disillusionment, The Frontier of the Finite offers a bold exploration into the root cause behind humanity's pervasive sense of meaninglessness. With over 10 million people in England alone battling anxiety and depression each week, the crisis is undeniable. Yet despite our attempts to medicate, distract, or escape through consumerism and entertainment, the underlying melancholy persists.

Logos

Stella Skopelitou

Logos: The First & Last Theory of Everything is a philosophical work arguing that language (Logos) is not merely a medium but also the foundation of reality itself. This book will take readers on a journey that is at once rational and mystical, using a radical extension of Cartesian doubt and extreme simplicity (Ockham's razor) to show how the irreducible condition for every experience, thought, truth, and theory can only be Logos.

Essentia Books; 2026-09-29; Language/Epistemology/Logic; Pb-9781917704779, $17.95/£12.99, 184pp, 8.5x5.5inches / 216x140mm, Ebk-9781917991520, $14.99/£10.99.

The Stupid Syndrome

Lord Gregory Henwood

Smart people make stupid decisions at work when speed, status, and noise drown out intelligence. The Stupid Syndrome is a business parable that shows you how to spot stupidity's early signals, arrest its slide, and reset decisions on facts. These pages deliver a tight, reusable framework, as well as tools such as the Veritas Model, the Reality Check, and the Recognise-Reflect-Review-Decide Loop.

Looking for Elsewhere

Simon Waldman

Looking for Elsewhere is a warning about the consequences of intolerance and prejudice. In Turkey, there was once a thriving Jewish community that numbered hundreds of thousands. Today, very few remain. This book is a trained historian's own exploration into what led many Jews to leave a country that for centuries they had called home. It details the experiences of those who stayed but are constantly aware of the possibility of having to leave, in hopes of finding an elusive place called home.

'Extraordinary. I was mesmerized by it, starting with the very first pages.' Steven A. Cook, Eni Enrico Mattei Senior Fellow for Middle East and Africa Studies

Christian Alternative Books; 2026-07-28; Middle East (General)/Jewish/History; Pb-9781917991063, $21.95/£15.99, 264pp, 8.5x5.5inches / 216x140mm, Ebk-9781917991124, $10.99/£7.99.

Mindless, The Mark Bozon

What if a single choice could decide the fate of humanity?

In the beginning there was the dome. It had always been there. Always visible from his window. Always just beyond his reach. Shimmering with light like a perpetual sunset, its dazzling gold exterior bathed his very existence in its holy, omniscient glow. It was his shining star. A final step in a long-fought marathon; the top of the highest mountain peak yearning for one brave enough to stake their claim.

It was the dome.

It was Dios.

Raising Artemis Christine A. Baker

This is the animals' story to tell: How they guide the lost back to themselves. How they carry grief until humans learn to set it down. How they transform those who believe that they are rescuing animals when, all along, the animals are the ones doing the saving.

Raising Artemis is an offering from the animal world, a reminder that the greatest teachers have four paws, that love transcends death, and that your truest purpose often waits in the last place you think to look.

By nightfall, he is cast out into the desolate industrial zone outside his office, stripped of his phone, his car, and perhaps soon his relationship.
